| 3              | Department of Water and Environmental Regulation | 1. The main risk identified in this amendment relate to stormwater management, where a reduction in the POS is proposed that could be performing a bio-retention function.
2. To mitigate above risk the proponent should quantify what the alteration to stormwater volumes/retention would be and how this could be managed to the Shire’s satisfaction. | Noted. The Shires engineering staff have advised that any issues and agreed solutions will be articulated via modifications to the UWMP prior to subdivision. | No change required. |

A wise move for grass owls

THREE Kimberley grass owls have taken up residence in Margaret River as part of a bid to save the species from extinction.

The owls, two males bred in captivity and a wild female, were given to Margaret River's Eagles Heritage last month by the Perth Zoo as part of a cooperative captive breeding program.

The hope is that the female will mate with one of the males and produce offspring.

Eagles Heritage manager Phil Pain was optimistic about the chances of success.

"I am certain they are already getting together," he said.

Mr Pain said the owl was extremely rare in the Kimberleys although a similar species was common in the Northern Territory.

Grass owls live and breed on the ground and are particularly vulnerable to predators.

The two young males are the chicks of a pair of wild grass owls which survived after being plucked from a harvester.

Mr Pain said the parent pair was lucky to survive because of the injuries to their legs and said they owed their lives to the Perth Zoo's senior specialised bird keeper, Richard Dunlop.

"They must have done a brilliant job because it is very difficult to fix the legs of birds of prey," he said.

Within six months the original pair had bred to produce the two males now at Eagles Heritage.

The two males bred in captivity and any of their offspring will be registered in a special stud book kept at the Melbourne Zoo.
Council continues support for Eagles

By Gabrielle Adams

EAGLES Heritage Raptor Park will continue working to save endangered and native birds from extinction for another 21 years through an Augusta-Margaret River Shire Council decision.

Council has granted Eagles Heritage owners Phil and Cathy Pain a 21-year lease over the 11ha bushland haven on Boodjidup Road where the park has been based for the last 10 years.

Eagles Heritage is home to about 80 birds from across 17 species, including square-tailed kites, a crested hawk from tropical Queensland and a black-breasted buzzard—one of only two species in the world which uses rocks to smash open eggs.

A male grey falcon, found only in remote northern WA deserts, is also at the centre, with Eagles Heritage soon to receive two other new and rare tenants—two endangered Kimberley grass owls, which will be part of a captive breeding program.

But while Council’s decision was partly due to the prospect of a $500 increase in rates revenue, operator Phil Pain said the decision, passed unanimously, was also a vote of confidence in the park’s work and would secure the park’s longer-term future.

He said Council had always strongly supported Eagles Heritage.

Mr Pain said former Shire clerk Ken Preston and the Council at the time had originally invited Eagle’s Heritage to locate in Margaret River after Council became aware Mr Pain was searching for a suitable site in the South West.

“Council has always been extremely good to us and in the whole of Australia it is the only Council we know of which has supported this kind of work,” Mr Pain said.

“We pay a minimal lease as it is and are quite happy with the new agreement.

“We look forward to working with Council and the community for at least another 21 years.

“When we first got the site it had been logged and burned and while we still do mosaic burning, we have found that through tree planting and looking after the site we have had more mammals and marsupials including bandicoots moving on to the park.

“There were 33 species of bird recorded over the first year here and there are now up to 55 bird species visiting or living here.”

Council extended Eagles Heritage’s 10-year lease for another 10 years last April, at a rent of $1453 annually. But after council realised the property was capable of generating another $500 in revenue each year by a change to the lease, the lease was revisited.

The lessees will now pay $1000, plus annual rates of about $945.
Phil Pain with Reddog, the star attraction at Eagles Heritage.

New lease for raptors

WHILE Reddog, the star resident at Eagles Heritage, was soaring above her enclosure this week, owner Phil Pain was on cloud nine.

The sanctuary has just been granted a 21-year lease by the Augusta-Margaret River Shire Council to enable the centre’s staff to continue rehabilitating injured raptors at a bush block near Margaret River.

Reddog, a black kite, regularly entertains and educates visitors to the centre by helping Mr Pain demonstrate the art of falconry.

Mr Pain said this week the council had recognised the importance of the centre’s work.

"The decision was passed unanimously, which means they all understand and appreciate what it is we are trying to do here," he said.

Unlike America, where the bald eagle is protected, the Department of Conservation and Land Management still issues licences to kill Australia's wedge-tail eagles.

The centre takes in between 100 and 300 injured birds of prey each year. They are rehabilitated so that they can return to the wild.

Soon the centre will receive two unusual visitors from the Perth Zoo. Two Kimberley grass owls, an endangered species, will take part in the centre’s captive breeding program to increase their numbers in the wild.

| 8              | Private Submitter           | Supports redevelopment but won't have opportunity to view plans before 27 November but provide the following:
1. Believe it will be in the local community's interest to ensure that the design was complementary to the location and purpose and use materials/colours sympathetic to the river surrounds.
2. Preserve some external structures to retain its historic identity and local point of reference ‘Colourpatch’.
3. Colourpatch has been accommodating the elderly residents of the Augusta Lodge and it would be appropriate to consult with them to ensure their needs are catered for i.e. building access, wet area facilities and wheelchair ramp.
4. The application will enable more community groups to access the facility for functions.
5. The relocation of the ‘cut’ has meant the dog beach terminates at the river mouth park, which makes the area popular with dog walkers. Suggest the design include sufficient and well designed exterior areas to enable dog owners to sit outside with pets. An externally facing “Coffee Window” is a simple way to enable a dog owner travelling solo to keep their dog safe and buy a coffee.
6. The site is also the location for major local the profile of Augusta.

<th>EVENTS. 7. Shire toilets at Colourpath vary in capability depending on demand from different events. While specific events are generally addressed by portable toilets this solution is an eye sore. Perhaps thought could be given by Shire to, in conjunction with current Colourpatch application, to adequacy of these facilities and ensure the Colourpatch design is accommodating of some additional capacity the Shire plan an upgrade to existing facilities.</th>

<tr>

<td>1. Looked at plans and feel that as long as the bar is utilised wisely it would be a good use of premises and enabling use all year round. 2. Great attraction to add to Augusta’s delights.</td>

<tr>
<td>12. Private Submitter</td>
<td>1. Strongly support the proposal 2. Prospect of a casual/family friendly venue is exciting and will be good value and a relaxed facility. Great place to take visitors as there are no other licensed venues in town other than the pub. 3. Augusta is overdue and in serious need of this kind of venue.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
If Augusta is to become more than a retirement home for the elderly a variety and more options for entertainment are required.

Don’t expect the proposal will cause any material health problems or disturbance.

Can’t think of any negative effects of the proposal.

Having been a resident of Augusta for sometime we appreciate many residents in Augusta are resistant to change and will often complain about new developments regardless of potential value to the town and this is not a valid basis to reject this application.

Colourpatch will have an important role to play in ensuring that the tourists visiting have an enjoyable and entertaining experience. Colourpatch Café will offer a unique experience compared to existing licensed businesses.

We live close to this site and see little impact on our lifestyle.

Augusta desperately needs this development.

Shire has already placed a limit of 120 persons on the proposed licensed premises at one time. Equates to 2 persons per vehicle. These vehicles will be parked at the premises or near vicinity causing much traffic congestion.

Colourpatch is located on a “Blind Bend”. The location is therefore a bad mix for drivers who have been drinking at the Colourpath and general driving public traversing Albany Terrace.

Refer to the Planning Framework section of the report. The proposal is compliant from a parking perspective.

Noted. The Small Bar use will not generate additional traffic to that previously approved. The applications for renovations were referred to the Shires Engineering division who did not raise concerns on this matter.
3. Colourpath and Turner Street Jetty are known far and wide as “Family Area” set aside for swimming and fishing, BBQ area for families and in my view does not equate for a licence premises in its midst.

4. It’s a residential area with homes being built for families with no thought being given to a liquor licence in its midst.

As discussed in the report, it is considered that the venue will increase activity and passive surveillance in this area that is a positive outcome.

Refer to comment section of the report.

B. Private Submitter

1. If small bar is part of a restaurant serving meals only, close by 10, no live music or dancing and that would be OK.

2. However, any other type of license will destroy the historic amenity of the foreshore as a family part and wildlife habitat.

3. Such a bar would create obnoxious noise, parking problems, bring potentially violent behaviour, crime and ruin lives of people living on Turner Street and visitors in the Caravan Park.

C. Private Submitter

1. Albany Terrace is one of the most picturesque parts of Augusta. People of all ages enjoy the foreshore.

2. Understand value of restaurant patrons enjoying a glass during their meal. Not opposed to the restaurant having a liquor license but no live music or extended hours. However, a liquor bar is more like a tavern.

3. Noise and traffic would increase and its realistic to assume that public drunkenness would too.

4. Would damage the character of the area and its public safety.

Nothing in this determination should be construed to restrict any right of access and ‘traditional use’ under the Aboriginal Heritage Act 1972.

Fence costing and proposed placement

At the west landing site on the foreshore near the Cliffs/Cave, the Shire may need to estimate the annual high water mark line (late Spring) and then add a metre or two up so canoes can access the river bank. On the eastern site (which is not a designated area) the river bank may be partially submerged at certain times of the year so this will need to be taken into account when erecting fencing here.

Estimate $100/linear metre for post and rail fencing of the style installed at Surfers Point (see below image), however the proposed placement sites will be more expensive to erect fencing due to access constraints.

Proposed placement

- Wallcliffe cliffs/caves - areas to the west and east
- Margaret River Rowing club - 20m east and 50m west of the club at the furthest point
Cost for a sign of the size above was $516.00 installed in 2016. It would cost more to get this installed due to the proposed remote locations.

Proposed wording

- Culturally significant site please do not enter.
  OR
- This is a registered aboriginal heritage site climbing at this site is prohibited

Proposed Placement

- Margaret River mouth carpark
- Wallcliffe cliffs/caves- areas to the west and east
- Margaret River Rowing club- 20m east and 50m west of the club

At the west landing site on the foreshore near the Cliffs/Cave, the Shire will need to take into account the annual high water mark before placing signs. The eastern site (which is not a designated area) can also be partially submerged at certain times of the year so will also need to be taken into account when placing signs here.
