

Working in Local Government

2014

Local government is a diverse employer that encourages the development of its staff who in turn deliver quality services to its clients - the public. Employees feel that they are contributing to the local community and making a difference in people's lives whilst working in a dynamic, fair and flexible environment.

Whoever you are and whatever your background, working in local government gives you the opportunity not only to develop your career but also to improve others' lives.
